Rethinking 'float pools of old'

Trinity Health has launched its FirstChoice internal staffing agency to provide nurses and clinicians with greater flexibility in both short and long-term roles across its system. This initiative moves beyond traditional float pools, aiming to offer a more adaptable and responsive staffing model. By implementing such strategies, healthcare organizations can better manage workforce needs and improve patient care delivery. CliniShift's advanced scheduling functionality aligns seamlessly with these modern staffing approaches.

Rising Patient Volumes Across Healthcare Facilities

Recent data indicates that hospitals in the US have experienced significant increases in patient volumes over the past three years: inpatient admissions by 9.3%, observation stays by 7.8%, emergency visits by 8.5%, and outpatient services by 7.2%. This upward trend underscores the importance of efficient resource management and capacity planning within healthcare institutions.

CliniShift's scheduling solutions are designed to adapt to these growing demands, facilitating effective staff deployment and enhancing patient care services.
